Originally from hospitality background (management trainee with the TajGroup), my natural empathy and people skills were honed with every move and new experience. Working with Dr Steven Covey, I soon learnt how each attribute can be a compliment to company ethos and success. Coming from a very academic family, and not being an honors student was a challenge, but it also taught me patience and achievement. My baptism by fire was to take over recruiting for a group that represented universities in UK, Ireland and Australia. But, I was hooked and I think, I manage to bring all these traits to the fore when talking to, counseling or just listening to the students and parents. I am proud of the sense of comfort and confidence I am able to project and convey.

Being from India, I am able to relate and understand the Indian descent parents and students and answer their concerns and issues. This has also meant a lot of networking with the diaspora to spread the word and create a tremendous awareness of our programs. This has led to more opportunities to help the companies grow with affiliations and branding.

Living in beautiful Hudson valley (god's own palette), I love being home with my almost human Boxer/ shepherd mix, taffy and my son who tolerates us both. Reading, television, especially British dramas, friends, travel and eating out are my relaxation.

Having lived in many continents and travelled extensively, I am very comfortable meeting and interacting with folks from every strata of life.

I have been involved in the admissions process for over fifteen years and, at AUA, also function as the Alumni Relations Director. I earned my Bachelor of Arts Degree at Queens College. I have been with AUA since February, 2004 when we ushered in the first class. I consider myself to be so fortunate to have spoken with our students when they first enrolled and see them graduate and begin their residencies. I cannot think of anything better than to be involved with students on both ends. I have always enjoyed speaking with prospective students about their aspirations, and aiding them as they consider our program. I truly love what I do.

I enjoy being at home and traveling with my wife. We enjoy exploring ethnic restaurants and all of the diversity that New York City has to offer as well as hiking and enjoying the outdoors.

I have been helping students along their career path for ten years, most recently joining the American University of Antigua Admissions team in 2008 as an Associate Director of Admissions. I earned my Bachelor's degree from the College of Wooster in Communication Studies and am currently pursuing a Masters of Business Administration from Plymouth State University. I am familiar with the hard work and dedication it takes to achieve a graduate degree and manage all the other aspects of life.

Representing AUA in the Midwest Region has been a rewarding experience. I enjoy meeting potential students from around the world that are attending colleges and universities here, with a common goal of becoming a doctor.

Growing up in Sandusky, Ohio and enjoying outdoor activities on Lake Erie, boating became my hobby. As a current member and past president of the Wooster Ohio Exchange Club, I contribute to a community service organization that focuses on making the community a better place to live through programs in Americanism, community service and youth activities. I currently reside in Poland, Ohio with my wife where together we enjoy traveling and the outdoors with our two sons.

I have been with AUA College of Medicine since 2006. Prior to AUA I was a case manager for a Mental Healthcare agency for three years before making the switch to higher education. I enjoy working in this dynamic field where I am able to help students pursue their dreams of becoming physicians. The position allows me to travel throughout the U.S., meeting new and interesting people every day. I have a BA in Art Therapy and more recently completed my Master's in School Counseling where I am now certified in NY state.

In my spare time I am a personal trainer where I get to combine my love for fitness and helping others.

I have been an admissions professional since 1983, and a specialist in international medical admissions since 2002. I take great pleasure and pride in recommending deserving, qualified applicants for an opportunity to become caring, compassionate, licensed physicians in the United States. I earned my Bachelor of Arts Degree from Boston College, Chestnut Hill, MA.

I live in Orlando, Florida, with my wife of 22 years, Kimberly, and my fifteen-year old daughter.

We enjoy all of the great weather and activities that Central Florida has to offer, and we have visited most of the major National Parks and several European countries. I enjoy following politics and other current events, walking and following the fortunes of my favorite team, the Boston Red Sox!
